One Day Rocky Went to the ZOO

Young Human

David

In the human exhibit, a boy caught his eye. The plaque on the wall read: Young Man David

Young Human

When Rocky got a chance to talk to Him, David told him all about his life and how he got there.

Young Human

The robot felt an unfamiliar feeling in his chest. Rocky told the boy he was confused. David explained those were emotions.

Rocky grew sadder the more the boy shared. Suddenly, the robot made up his mind. He liked emotions and he would save the boy

Young Human

Rocky grabbed David and started running to the exit. But they were chased by a guard, but they burst through the doors in the nick of time. They ran down the street and made it home safe and sound. Rocky felt happy.

When they woke up the next day, Rocky didn't go to work instead, they played. They drew. They went to the fair. They ran around the park. After having so much fun, Rocky wanted to only use emotions.

David scolded rocky though saying "Sometimes its not good to have emotions, but you still have to think".

So the next day, he listened to David's advice

He thought about eating

When he felt tired, he remembered to sleep.

Rocky went to work even if he wanted to play.

When Rocky came home, David was gone. He searched everywhere, but couldn't find his best friend.

After that, Rocky checked the zoo. He went back to the exhibit where David was before, finding him in a cage

Young Human

"David" he cried, "what are you doing here?" "They took me when you left," the boy explained.

After promising to get out, Rocky marched to the owner of the Zoo. He told him about feelings and that David was his best friend. The Owner felt an unfamiliar feeling in his chest. Rocky explained these were emotions. The owner was moved, and let David out.

David and Rocky ran out of the zoo, free at last!
